Not illustrated. 1885 Excerpt: . . . a paper read before a convention of articulation teachers, in June last, said: The results of the German method in Europe, imparting usually only a limited instruction adapted to peasant life, do not meet the requirements of American oral schools, which allow a much longer term of instruction, and ought to give their pupils an education corresponding to what the public schools give the hearing youth of this country. In a debate upon the subject of his paper, he said that he had practiced the German method of beginning with the elements, for many years, before he gave it up for his present plan of beginning with simple words, which he thinks easier and more natural. Dr. P. G. Gillett, superintendent of the Illinois Institution for the Deaf and Dumb, in some remarks upon this subject in Chicago, in July last, admitted the desirability of teaching...
