Dog Ear Publishing, United States, 2011. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 201 x 127 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .A family from Pennsylvania is having a great life until tragedy comes into their lives. They are hit with struggles when an unlikely angel shows the powers that will put their lives back together again. The family decides to move south to North Carolina hoping that the mild winters will be easier to deal with. The struggles in Pennsylvania were nothing compared to what they would be facing in their new home. It didn t take long before the happiness turned to sadness and tragedy. What was going on in their house was tearing them apart. It was putting their little angel to the test, making them all wonder just how much more she could take. How much more could the family take? The terror and the fear continued building up and it was a question as to whether it would reach the breaking point. Larry was born and raised in the beautiful Pocono Mountains of northeastern Pennsylvania. He spent most of his life working in manufacturing and building maintenance. In 2004 with his wife Lina, he moved to Jacksonville, North Carolina where they now reside. After the age of sixty Larry started to write short stories of his childhood. He has had several short stories of his youth published in Our USA Magazine. Larry retired in 2010 and wrote for an online website. His articles included stories of his family, articles on health, and most of all bizarre stories of horror. It was those short stories that really caught the attention of his readers. After receiving much support, Larry knows that keeping the readers in suspense, on the edge of their seats, and giving them...
